Words of Praise

For the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, as given by leaders in all the several schools of medicine, should have far more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has THE BADGE OF HONESTY on every bottle-wrapper, in a full list of all its ingredients printed in plain English.

If you are an invalid woman and suffer from frequent headache, backache, gnawing distress in stomach, periodical pains, disagreeable, catarrhal, pelvic drain, dragging-down distress in lower abdomen or pelvis, perhaps dark spots or specks dancing before the eyes, faint spells and kindred symptoms caused by female weakness, or other derangement of the feminine organs, you can not do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hospital, surgeon's knife and operating table may be avoided by the timely use of "Favorite Prescription" in such cases. Thereby the obnoxious examinations and local treatments of the family physician can be avoided and a thorough course of successful treatment carried out in the privacy of the home. "Favorite Prescription" is composed of the very best native medicinal roots known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments, contains no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Do not expect too much from "Favorite Prescription;" it will not perform miracles; it will not dissolve or cure tumors. No medicine will. It will do as much to establish vigorous health in most weaknesses and ailments peculiarly incident to women as any medicine can. It must be given a fair chance by perseverance in its use for a reasonable length of time.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this remedy of known composition.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly secret and womanly confidences are protected by professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic. Easy to take as candy.

MAN LYNCHED.

A telephone message received in Bristol, Va., from Russell county, last night, states that Jackson Presier, a young married man, was taken from his home by a mob of 300 men, early yesterday morning, hurried into the woods a short distance from his house, and there lynched. The fury of the mob was due to alleged connection of Presier with the double killing of George Call and John Mutter, two young men residing in the Swords Creek neighborhood of Russell county, who were shot to death in a brawl at a country dance Sunday night. The tragedy and the subsequent lynching took place in a remote section of the Russell county mountains, and there is no direct wire communication with Swords Creek.

Thomas Gross and Fred Dye also are charged with participating in the murder. The dance is said to have ended in a drunken fight, in which practically all the men participated. Presier retired to his home, whence he was taken and lynched by the mob, who afterward continued its search for the other alleged guilty men.

Dye and Gross attempted to escape, but were captured by officers. It soon became evident, however, that another lynching was being planned by the friends of the dead men. An engine was, therefore, requisitioned from Richlands, and the prisoners, with a posse of officers in charge, were rushed to Cleveland, a distance of sixteen miles, from which place they were hurried through the country to the county jail.

A message from Lebanon last night states that a large mob is supposed to be on its way to the Russell county jail for the purpose of lynching Dye and Gross. The safety of the two men is believed to be absolutely dependent on the forces of the county sheriff, which force was, late yesterday afternoon, augmented in anticipation of the battle which is believed to be impending.

Both of the men killed were unmarried. Presier, who was lynched, was the only married man connected with the tragedy. He was lynched without being given a chance to say a word in his own behalf. His wife attempted to follow him as he was led from the house, but the woman was restrained by members of the mob, and was not allowed to witness the harrowing scene that followed in the near-by woods.

Cause of Stomach Troubles.

When a man has trouble with his stomach you may know that he is eating more than he should or of some article of food or drink not suited to his age or occupation, or that his bowels are habitually constipated. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to regulate the bowels and improve the digestion and see if the trouble does not disappear. Ask for a free sample. Sold by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Kodol is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids with natural digestants and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Each dose will digest more than 3,000 grains of good food. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

"RAISED THE DEAD."

Comte Leonce de Larmandie, director of the important Societe des Gens des Lettres in Paris, told a correspondent last night about an effort made recently by three French savants to "raise the dead."

"It was out at Verssailles," said the comte. "A young girl apparently died from natural causes, and the physicians, with the consent of the family, secured the body a few hours after death.

"The body was immersed in warm water, and subjected to rhythmic electrification. From time to time one of the physicians made hypnotic passes.

"After three hours' treatment the girl opened her eyes. Further stimulated, she was able to speak.

"'When I fell asleep at the hospital,' said she, 'there was an indefinite period of complete prostration and then I became conscious of a growing sensation of cold. All my life seemed slowly to concentrate about my heart, and all my thoughts seemed to retire to a distant corner of my brain.

"'Then my thought left my body altogether. I could see myself lying there, while I still heard the sound of distant music. But through it all I had a bodily sensation of bitter cold.

"'Suddenly there was a delicate shock. The last tie uniting me and my body was broken. At the same instant, as though gifted with new sight, I witnessed a terrible spectable. My body was the theater of a terrific struggle, nameless monsters fighting for its possession.'

"At this juncture the girl became hysterical and savagely attacked the physician. To quiet her one of them gave her an injection of morphine. The dose was overstrong, and her heart action ceased. Efforts were continued throughout the night and most of the next day to recall her again to life, but they were uneffectual.

"The only rational explanation is that the girl was not dead, but in a trance. The facts are as related."

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently yet promptly on the bowels and allays inflammation at the same time. It is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

TUESDAY EVENING. MAR. 10, 1908.

MR. T. K. HACKMAN, a Staunton lawyer, has filed with the State Corporation Commission a complaint against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway for its refusal to sell him a ticket at Alexandria to Staunton for train No. 1. This refusal, he alleges, compelled him, in order to reach Staunton on the train in question, to buy a ticket on to Covington at an additional cost of $1.40. The lawyer charges that the railroads, by acting as it did, has violated the two cent rule now in force in this State. He wants the commission to adjudicate the matter, for he holds that the existing arrangement is a subterfuge to resist the enforcement of the two-cent rate. The Chesapeake and Ohio, it appears, does not indicate a stop at Alexandria for train No. 1, and in order to take on passengers there must be flagged, and the road designates the stations for which this train will be flagged, and Staunton is not one of the stations. Many persons bound for Washington have discovered the advantage of buying a ticket to Alexandria at two cents a mile, and then paying twenty-five cents to the conductor to go on to Washington. Returning, they ride to Alexandria by trolley ahead of time and buy there a two-cent rate ticket on to their destination in Virginia. Mr. Hackman alleges that No. 1 is scheduled not to stop in Alexandria so as to delay people and make them take the late night train and thus to discourage the business. The whole arrangement is a violation of the spirit of the law, at least, and should be corrected. It seems strange that Alexandria has not gone before the Corporation Commission and have rectified this and other arbitrary acts of the railroad companies that are daily injuring this city—which helped build these roads.

THAT prohibition does not prohibit is often proven by solid facts. According to reports made public in Charlotte, N. C., in the year 1907 the drug stores of that city filled 39,645 whisky prescriptions. These called for 35,011 quarts and 210 dozen bottles of beer. This, in brief, is the amount of the whisky business done in Charlotte in a single year by the doctors who wrote "scripts" and the drug stores that filled them. There are fourteen drug stores in Charlotte that pay an annual liquor license of $100 each, or a total of $1,400. Averaging the cost of whisky at $1.25 a quart or $5 a gallon, the grand total is $43,760 that the drug stores received for whisky alone in the year. For writing 39,645 prescriptions the physicians received an average price of 50 cents for each prescription, which brought them in the neighborhood of $20,000 for their trouble. Prohibition has been in effect in Charlotte for about three years. The population of Charlotte is about 35,000.

THERE seems to be no question that the wine-drinking nations as compared with the whisky-drinking nations are far more temperate. Thomas Jefferson declared as a result of his observation that "no nation is drunken where wine is cheap, and none sober where the drinker of wine substitutes ardent spirits as the common beverage." For this reason he advocated a low rate of duty on wines "as an antidote to the bane of whisky." In the same line of reasoning a caller at the White House—Chevalier Andrea Sharbo—told the President the other day that in the French and Italian armies, where light wine is a part of the regular ration, the yearly percentage of soldiers treated for drunkenness was less than one-eighth of 1 per cent. The Surgeon General of the American army reports that 80 out of every 1,000 are treated for alcoholism.

THE politician who writes to a federal office holder asking him for a contribution to a campaign fund or any other fund to be used for political purposes subjects himself to all the penalties imposed by the civil service law. This was the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court yesterday, as stated in the Gazette of that day, and its effect in the purification of politics and political methods should be far-reaching and immediate. The bleeding of office holders by politicians has been a crying evil for many years past and has aided materially in keeping the republican party in power.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., March 10.

Fred Jeffs, the modern Robinson Crusoe, who was stranded on a desert island of the Galapagos group in the Pacific probably perished before he could be rescued by the government. That the mission of Lieut Gheradi, commander of the battleship fleet tender Yankton, who was sent to rescue the marooned sailor, was unsuccessful is indicated by the fact that the officer's dispatch, which reached the department this morning, made no mention whatever of Jeffs. The dispatch was sent from the Yankton by wireless sometime during last night and was picked up by the wireless station at Pensacola. It says: "At 8 p. m. Yankton's position was latitude 12:43 north, longitude 97:36 west. Arrive Acapulco tomorrow night." Officials here believe that if they had accomplished their purpose, or found any trace of Jeffs he would promptly have reported it. Jeffs who was a sailor on a Norweigan bark was stranded on the Indefatigable island of the Galapagos group together with his shipmates, last May. After living upon turtles and birds all summer the captain and all the crew except Jeffs were taken off by a sailing vessel October 26. The Captain reported that Jeffs was ill and refused to accompany them.

James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, called at the White House today with T. C. Parsons, president of the Columbia Typographical Union, of this city, to urge the President to appoint a practical printer to the position of Public Printer. The President is said to be contemplating appointing W. S. Rossiter to the place. Rossiter is not a practical printer. The Central Labor Union last night voted to ask the Senate to hold up the nomination of Mr. Rossiter should his name come before that body, upon the ground that he is not a practical printer as the law specifies the Public Printer should be.

The First International Congress of Mothers convened here today with a notable assemblage of delegates from every State in the union, and a number from abroad in attendance. This is the eleventh Congress of Mothers held in the United States, but for the first time foreign countries are represented. President Roosevelt formally opened the convention this afternoon with a reception to the mothers and a hearty speech of interest and appreciation of the work which their organization has been doing to uplift the home and train children and mothers alike. "One of our primary objects," said Mrs. Frederick Schoff, of Philadelphia, president of the Congress, today, "is to bring the home and the school into closer touch and enable the parents and teachers to co-operate in their work."

How members of the House get recognition of the Speaker was revealed today through the failure of Mr. Cannon's memory. "Some gentleman has asked for recognition for a formal matter," said the Speaker when the House met. "I've forgotton who he is, however," he continued, and the House laughed. If "some gentleman" was present he would not help the Speaker out so Mr. Overstreet was recognized to bring up the postoffice appropriation bill. This measure will be put on its passage at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The President has nominated J. M. Updike to be postmaster at Buena Vista and A. L. Taylor at Parksley, Va.

Mr. Carlin says he expects to secure a favorable report today on his bill appropriating $75,000 to construct a road from the south end of the Highway bridge to Arlington.

One of the most serious revolutions launched in recent years against the power of the Speaker of the House is embodied in a call for a republican caucus, being circulated for signers by Representative Hayes. He proposes to take from the Speaker the power of appointing the committee on rules that "governs the House with an iron hand," and to have the House elect this committee.

Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, will be received by the President at the White House tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in order to present his credentials, according to announcement made at the State Department today.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Mar. 10.

SENATE.

The Senate this afternoon agreed to vote on the mail subsidy bill Friday, March 20.

The Senate appropriated $4,000 for the erection of a monument in the District of Columbia to John Witherspoon, a signer of the declaration of independence.

Millions of dollars that ought to be distributed among the people who produced it, is given to a few who spend it in riotous living, in traveling abroad and in the purchase of worthless counts, dukes, earls and barons.

That is what becomes of the money received for a high protective tariff, as expressed in the Senate this afternoon by Senator McLaurin who was urging as a remedy for financial ills a law requiring treasury notes to be issued on application by any and every holder of government bonds.

HOUSE.

That a national bank shall be placed in every town and village of the United States whose population is not less than 200, is the provision contained in a bill introduced in the House today by Mr. Fulton, of Oklahoma.

Mr. Hamilton, of Michigan, addressed the House in championing the principles of the President and declaring that the big corporations should be controlled and regulated by Congress

MAY IMPEACH JUDGE.

The proposal to impeach Judge J. W. G. Blackstone, of the Eleventh circuit, for whose removal a committee is now pending in the general assembly, is meeting with favorable consideration by members of the House. This would relieve members of the House of any further participation in the case by placing the responsibility upon the Senate after impeachment charges are presented. The House could impeach the judge one day, and the Senate proceed with the trial the day following, regardless of whether or not Judge Blackstone is present.

Many opportunities have been given Judge Blackstone to retire from the judiciary without further agitatation of the charges against him, but he has refused to accept them, and has declared, it is alleged, that if he is removed he will be elected to the general assembly. The evidence taken before the committee on courts of justice will serve for the impeachment process, and the printed evidence will be used if the new method is pursued.

If Judge Blackstone is impeached, and the matter heard in the Senate, he will not be eligible for any office in this State. Under the constitution the notice required in removal proceedings would not have to be given.

COURT OF APPEALS.

FALLING HAIR STOPPED.

Baldness Cured by Destroying the Parasitic Germ That Causes It.

Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff; and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair, and, lastly, baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that, Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has been wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise, because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. "You destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

The Legislature.

SENATE.

The conference report on the general appropriation bill was up in the Senate yesterday morning on the reconvening of the body for work.

Contrary to the general belief, there were in attendance thirty members, and they appeared ready for work. There was some reference to the appropriation bill, and before it had proceeded very far Senator Keezell, who has charge of it, asked permission to withdraw the conference report, and this was allowed, and the members at once got to work.

Senator Folkes offered a resolution, which was agreed to, which provides that the members of the finance committee shall assemble in Richmond at least thirty days prior to the meeting of the legislature and hear all the claims of heads of departments and State institutions and prepare a statement of the finances and to make recommendations to the Senate, the statement and apportionment to be presented to the members on the opening day of the Senate. The members are to be paid from the contingent fund of the Senate.

Senator Folkes said the object of the resolution is to have the great ougbear—the general appropriation bill—out of the way before the end of the session, as at present.

The Senate yesterday passed House bill No. 89 to amend and reenact chapter 15, Acts of Assembly, 1906-'07, entitled "An act to provide for the expense of removing, supporting and maintaining insane persons; how paid, &c." The bill provides that no citizen of the State of Virginia, who shall be committed to an insane asylum of the State, their estate or personal representative, shall be charged with any of the expenses attendant therewith. Senator Early has succeeded in passing House bill 315, which relates to the commissions allowed commissioners of the revenue. This bill helps all the commissioners, but especially those in the smaller counties. This bill will give them 3 1-2 per cent on the first $10 000.

There will be no Code revision for some years to come. This was decided yesterday when the House bill to provide for the naming of three lawyers to do this work came up in the Senate. "I object," was the echo that flitted through the chamber, and up went hands to sound the death-knell of the bill, which has attracted the attention of lawyers in all parts of the State and for which there has been a fight for some time.

The Senate continued to operate under the rule allowing objections by three members to prevent consideration of bills. Twenty bills in all were passed at the morning session, all of them being bills that had been passed and sent over from the House.

Among the bills which passed were the following, all of which passed the House had come to the Senate Saturday:

To pay the expenses incurred in the Blackstone investigation.

Making it a felony to write, compose or transmit letters threatening to kill or do bodily harm to another.

Amending the law relating to carrying concealed weapons. The bill authorizes the enforcement of a fine as high as $300 in addition to confiscation of the weapon.

The Senate after a debate lasting three hours last night adopted the conference committee's report on the general appropriation bill. The bill creates two State normal schools, appropriating $50,000 for a school at Harrisonburg, and $25,000 for one at Fredericksburg. An appropriation of $14,000 to the colored school in Peters urg is made.

The Senate passed House bills:

To amend and re-enact section 3138 of the code of Virginia, relating to the method whereby any citizen residing in this State may change his name.

To provide the mode of ascertainment of damages in favor of abutting owners where any city or town shall cause injury to property by reason of the grading of any street, alley or other public place belonging to such city or town, and to give to any assessment so made against the city or town the effect of a judgment.

To amend section 70 of the code of Virginia, in relation to the pay of electoral boards.

Providing penalties for sending threatening letters.

In relation to the estates of persons presumed to be dead.

HOUSE.

Mr. Read yesterday offered in the House a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of ten (five members of each branch) to co-operate with Governor Swanson in his plans for the reception and entertainment of William Jennings Bryan, who is to address the solons on the afternoon of March 25th. The resolution was adopted and Speaker Byrd named the following as the House committee: Delegates Read, Brown, Curlett, Thrift and Oliver.

The report of the conference committee in the matter of Senate bill 251, which concerns the State Board of Fisheries, was submitted in the House and adopted. The chief amendment to the original bill increases the salary of W. McDonald Lee, chairman of the fish commission, from $2,000 to $2,500. Six hundred dollars is allowed for traveling expenses. The secretary's salary is raised from $1,500 to $1,800.

Senate bill No. 217, which provides for the pay to be received by county treasures for the issuance of county bond, passed the House. The bill provides a minimum of $15 and a maximum of $200. Senator King and Delegate Sterrett are patrons of the measure.

The question of pure elections came up for consideration in the course of a general discussion, and an act was passed amending the present law exempting from prosecution those who testify under the so-called "Barksdale law."

A bill giving cities and towns, upon leasing or purchasing gas, electric or water companies operating in territory contiguous to their corporate limits, the right to continue to operate, maintain and extend same was passed.

A bill providing for suits against charitable and benevolent institutions, giving power to courts to supervise the investment of funds in litigation for such institutions, was passed.

The House also passed bills:

To rearrange the circuits and fix the time of holding the various circuit courts.

In relation to license for catching fish for oil or manure.

To provide a cattle quarantine.

Regulating the handling of State school funds.

Regulating fees of county officers, sheriffs, sergeants, constables, etc.

Regulating the fees of county treasurers on the sale of county and school bonds.

The House agreed to the Senate amendment to House bill 224, making April the month for settlement of school funds instead of July, as proposed.

The following Senate bills passed the House:

For the establishment of libraries in the public schools of the rural districts, and to appropriate money therefor.

Allowing courts to approve and confirm compromises in actions and suits wherein infants, idiots and lunatics are parties.

To amend section 852 of the code of 1887, relating to salary of clerk.

To amend section 2099 of the code with relation to license required for catching fish for oil or manure.

To repeal section 1468 and 1509 of the code of Virginia in reference to public free schools for counties and to the literary fund.

To amend section 5 of chapter 8 of an act concerning public service corporations, approved January 18, 1904 in regard to the duties of telegraph and telephone companies.

The Churchman bill, imposing a penalty of $500 on any newspaper publishing obscene matter, met its death in the House Saturday afternoon, when on motion it was passed by.

Delegate Sterrett, of Highland county, believes that the Commonwealth will derive thousands and thousands of dollars in the way of increased revenue from his emergency bill amending chapter 23 of the code in relation to the assessment of lands, etc. The measure changes the law so as to make it provide for the assessment of standing timber trees.

Today's Telegraphic News.

The Kaiser's Regrets.

Berlin, Mar. 10.—The Kaiser has received a letter from King Edward of England, expressing the latter's regret at the commotion caused in London by the Times attacks on the German ruler and England's First Lord of the Admiralty, Lord Tweedmouth, concerning the British naval estimates. Edward attributes the whole controversy to the Times, which he censures severely.

London, Mar. 10.—England knows how the Times secured its wonderful "scoop" on the correspondence between the Kaiser and First Lord of the Admiralty Lord Tweedmouth concerning England's estimates. Tweedmouth himself was unintentionally responsible for it. He was so proud, he confesses, of being in personal correspondence with Wilhelm that he couldn't resist showing the latter's communications to all the women members of his family, of course enjoining the strictest secrecy upon them. The woman, in turn, told all their women friends how intimate his Lordship and the Kaiser had become, warning them as Lord Tweedmouth had done to say nothing about it. Women who learned the facts in this way passed them along in strict confidence to other women and to their husbands, fathers and brothers, and the news finally reached the Times.

Alfonso in Barcelona.

Barcelona, Spain, March. 10.—Barcelona greeted King Alfonso with much splendor and apparent warmth. From the moment of his arrival, however, the most elaborate precautions were taken to guard against an attempt at violence by the anarchists, with whom the city swarms. Every house along the route by which he passed from the railroad station to the captain-general's palace, where he will stop during his stay here, had been searched an hour in advance of the procession. The occupants were then warned to keep doors and windows closed under penalty of a volley at the first suspicious sign. The captain-general published a warning that the soldiers would instantly shoot any one throwing flowers, confetti or anything else while the procession was passing. The king will visit the Austrian war fleet in the harbor, under Admiral Ziegler, tomorrow and return to Madrid the same evening.

Do not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Miner Kills His Wife.

Massillon, O., March 10.—John Mitchell, a miner out of work, who shot and killed his wife of four months in Schoenburner's saloon in Massillon last night, was arrested in Navarre and is now in jail here. Mitchell was captured after a chase of several miles in which the pursued man swam several streams. The Mitchells entered Schoenburner's saloon last evening, and a short time later the shooting occurred in an upper room. Mitchell escaped by brandishing his revolver at those who tried to intercept his flight. Mitchel says that brooding over the fact that he was out of work must have driven him to kill his wife. He was afraid that if he left town in search of work his wife would not follow.

Prince de Sagan and Mme. Gould.

Paris, Mar. 10.—The fact that Prince Helie de Sagan will sail tomorrow for the United States on the Kronsprinz Wilhelm, the same steamship Mme. Anna Gould is said to have arranged to take with her children, have practically convinced Paris that Mme. Gould has either already or is about to wed the former.

Japan and China.

Pekin, Mar. 9.—Japanese Minister Baron Hayashi has given Grand Councilor of the Empire Yuan Shih Kai two more days to answer the mikado's ultimatum concerning the surrender of the Tatsu Maru and indemnity for its seizure. China is doing its best to arrange terms with Japan by which it may "save its face."

It is certain that the Chinese government hopes to escape hostilities at present, but it wants to feel sure that Japanese agression will not immediately force another crisis, and the activity of the rebels makes it absolutely certain that something be done to cut off the supply of arms they have been securing from Japan for months.

London, Mar. 10.—England has interfered to save China from humiliation at the hands of the Japanese. It is understood that England's diplomatic representative at Tokio is urging the wisdom of arbitration. Hong Kong reports tell of a monster meeting at Canton yesterday at which resolutions were adopting declaring that if Japan has her way in the Tatsu Maru controversy China will boycott all Japanese goods.

Work of Night Riders.

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 10.—One hundred night riders captured the town of Birmingham, in Marshall county, early today, shot six negroes, one fatally, and whipped five others. The action followed repeated warnings to negroes to leave. The raiders were masked and shot into every negro cabin.

Brookesville, O., Mar. 10—Two hundred night riders visited this town early today, and after taking possession of telephone wires in order to prevent the giving of the alarm, destroyed 40,000 pounds of tobacco in the warehouse of R. E. Cargon.

Clarksville, Tenn., Mar. 10. Vaughan Bennett, son of Henry Bennett, a farmer, was found on the public highway today shot through the temple. His two horses lay near, both dead. Three shot guns and many empty shells were found in the road. Signs indicate a pitched battle with night riders.

Joke Feeds Hungry Mob.

Pittsburg, Mar. 10.—Some enemy of the fashionable Second Presbyterian Church played a joke with surprising results, by circulating a story that at the Sunday morning service a good breakfast would be served to 150 of the city's needy. Long before time set for service the vestibules and halls of the big church on Eighth street were crowded with the worst-looking lot of people who had ever been inside the doors. They were hungry and had come to be fed, though neither the pastor nor any of his flock knew what was expected. Pastor Rev. S. Edward Young soon found out, however, and starting the collection with a dollar, which he said would find breakfast for 10 men, he went through the church and soon had enough to feed everyone and have a surplus for permanent Sunday morning breakfasts. Now everyone is invited each Sunday morning to eat in the basement at the expense of Pastor Young's "Breakfast Brotherhood Club"

Fire in Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., Mar. 10.—Nine persons were injured, among them being Fire Chief Colish, and street car traffic was tied up for nearly five hours, as the result of a fire early today, which destroyed the largest business block in Wilkinsburg, a fashionable Pittsburg suburb. The fire started in the Wallace building, at Pennsylvania and Wood streets and rapidly communicated to the Caldwell building immediately adjoining. The loss is conservatively estimated at $300,000. The fire started in a bakery in the Wallace building and spread with almost incredible swiftness to other portions of the structure. The Wilkinsburg fire department was helpless and a general alarm was turned in. For five hours the firemen battled with the flames before they were under control. The high pressure of the water seriously hampered the firemen, causing the hose to burst frequently.

Bryan's Chances.

Chicago, Mar. 10—"Bryan undoubtedly could beat Hughes, Fairbanks, Cannon or any so-called reactionary, but Taft could beat Bryan". That was the political opinion voiced by William Allen White, of Emporia, Kas., editor and author, in discussing the presidential situation. "If a Roosevelt man is nominated," said Mr. White, 'I believe there is no doubt that he will be elected as against Bryan or any other man the democrats can name. If Taft is named I think he will carry the country. But if a man antagonistic to Roosevelt is named, Bryan will sweep the country."

Large Reward.

Boston, Mar. 10.—Streets leading from the south station are scoured for a package containing bank notes for which the loser has offered a reward of $50,000. How much the package contains the advertisement in today's papers does not say, but the notice itself in black type on the front page is attracting more attention than any piece of news in the papers. The identity of the owner is still a mystery. The package was lost yesterday from the overcoat pocket of the owner between his hotel and the railroad station.

Big Fire in New York.

New York, Mar. 10.—Fire which early today caused a loss of $250,000 in the heart of the retail shopping district injured twenty firemen, five of them so seriously they were taken to hospitals nearby, caused the death of half a score of inmates of a boarding house, and for a time threatened to destroy the immense Seigel Cooper store. With the fire fighters balked and delayed by the bursting of some rotten hose, it required hours to subdue the flames, and only by good luck did several firemen escape death.

High School Building Destroyed.

Napoleon, O., Mar. 10.—The newly rebuilt high school building here was destroyed by fire today with $20,000 loss. All the pupils escaped. The 800 pupils were just assembling when Prof. Zenor and White smelled smoke. They went to the attic to investigate. Upon opening the door they were met by a rush of flames. Both professors suffered burns. After a hard fight firemen succeeding in confining the flames chiefly to third floor and attic.

Attempted Regicide.

Christiana, Norway, Mar. 10.—Attempting to assassinate King Haakon, an unknown Swede fired ten rifle shots at a window of the royal palace today. The members of the royal family were all away from the palace. Several of the balls smashed the glass and buried themselves in the palace walls. No one was hit. The would-be assassin had concealed himself in the palace grounds whence, had he been a better marksman, he could hardly have failed to pick off any one he could see inside the building.

The police seized him before he could escape. He refused to give his name, but boldly declared he was trying to kill the king. It is as yet uncertain whether the prisoner is a terrorist or a lunatic. Anarchy has never gained much foothold either in Norway or Sweden.

Fire in an Alms House.

San Francisco, March. 10.—A second alarm of fire has been turned in from the city and county alms house which contains about four hundred aged men and women. The institution is five miles from the city and no details have been received.

Many thrilling rescues and narrows escapes attended the fire, but there were no fatalities.

THE PURPLE MARTIN.

Hoping to arouse a deeper interest in the purple martin, I give a list of those in our historic city who have provided hous s for these birds and look anxiously for their return year after year: Messrs. Edward L. Daingerfield, south Washington street; T. H. Ficklin, 714 Duke street; Frank C. Creighton, 317 south Pitt street; Alexander Bowie, 613 Washington street; Charles Nagel, 1011 Cameron street; Harry Wheat, 414 Prince stree; Justus Schneider, 424 Washington street; John R. Harding, 431 Columbus street; James A. Stoutenburgh, 429 Columbus street; George Bontz, 422 nort's Alfred; William J. Duncan, N. W. Pharmacy; the late Mr. W. H. Lambert gave much time to these birds and had great success with them in his large yard on Duke street. At present we have eleven colonies, that can be seen and studied, in our walks, in the old town. The value of the martin to the human race is very great and should be encouraged in every town, where mosquitoes abound. Their food consists of flying insects, caught on the wing, hence thousands of injurious insects are destroyed annually by these birds, among them the dreaded yellow fever mosquito. The return of the purple martin begins the last of March and their homes should at once be set in order, by renewing old nests and driving out English sparrows, which they have to battle with, on their return home. Will not some of our citizens with large yards erect a home for these man loving birds, and they will reward you by their charming voices and beautiful home life, in a way that will compensate for the small expense entailed.

FINED AND IMPRISONED.

The case of Frank Parker, charged with purchasing a hog which had been stolen, came up before Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning. The hog belonged to Mr. James Patterson, and was stolen from a slaughter house near this city one night during the latter part of last November. The prosecution was conducted by Mr. S. G. Brent, Commonwealth's Attorney.

Edward Drowns was the first witness. He stated that he and Harry Smith and Frederick Hicks left Parker's shop, near the union passenger depot, about midnight last November and proceeded to the slaughter house where they found the hog, which had been dressed. They took it and brought it to Parker's place. Parker purchased the hog for $4.50, giving each one of the young men $1.50. Witness said he and his companions told Parker they were going after meat. They carried the hog, which weighed between 200 and 300 pounds, into Parker's shop by the back way.

Mr. Patterson then took the stand. He said the hog weighed between 200 and 300 pounds; it had been slaughtered for him.

Ernest Fogg, the next witness, testified to Parker offering to sell him pork cheaper than any one else could furnish it.

Parker in his statement virtually corroborated all Drowns had stated. He acknowledged buying the hog, said he ate part of it and sold the remainder for $10.

Justice Caton imposed a fine of $10 and sentenced Parker to jail for three months.

CAPTAIN SUSPENDED.

Capts. Wright and White, United States steamboat inspectors, who investigated the collision between the ferry steamer Lackawanna and the schooner Charles H. Daiger, have announced their decision, holding the steamer to blame for the accident and suspending the license of Capt. Henry Kendrick, who was master of the Lackawanna at the time of the accident, for thirty days.

The collision between the ferry steamer Lackawanna and the schooner Daiger occurred during a fog the latter part of last December near the naval powder magazine wharf a short distance north of Alexandria. The schooner was badly damaged by the collision, her bow being crushed and the vessel sinking as far as her load of lumber would allow. She is now in the Queen street dock at this port and will, it is stated, be repaired and made ready for service again.

ASSAULTED AN OFFICER.

A row occurred in a house occupied by colored people in the extreme southeastern part of the city about one o'clock this morning. Officers Bell and Sampson went to the house and arrested a darkey named Charles Jackson, another negro who was engaged in the disorder having escaped. While the officers were on the west side of Fairfax street, between Wilkes and Gibbon, proceeding toward the station house with their prisoner, Jackson seized Officer Bell and both fell on the pavement. The negro grasped the officer's stick, when Officer Sampson drew his pistol and threatened to shoot Jackson if he did not relax his hold on the stick. The negro was finally subdued and locked up. Justice Caton in the Police Court this morning fined Jackson $5 for disorderly conduct and $10 for assaulting the officer.

DISTRICT COMMITTEE.

The Eighth district democratic congressional committee held a meeting yesterday evening at Manassas, as was anticipated in the Gazette, and decided upon June 9 as the date for holding a primary in which to nominate a candidate for Congress from this district. All of the members composing the committee were present. The only aspirant for congressional honors present was R. Lindsay Gordon, of Louisa county. It was stated that the cost of the primary will be about $1,500. The only candidates now in the field are Messrs Charles C. Carlin, of this city, incumbent, and R. Lindsey Gordon, of Louisa.

The same rules and regulations as to the qualification, etc., of voters as prevailed at the last primary were adopted.

The public is invited to hear Mr. Taylor.

Benjamin F. Campbell, of Ashburn, Loudoun county, who was committed to jail last Friday, was yesterday evening brought before Commissioner Garnett by Deputy Marshal Jos. F. Glover to answer the charge of selling liquor without a license. After an investigation of the case and taking the testimony of four witnesses from Loudoun county, Campbell plead guilty and was placed under a bond of $300 for his appearance at the July term of the U. S. Court. Dr. B. F. Noland, of Loudoun, became his surety.

The funeral of the late John Q. A. Crupper took place this afternoon from 813 King street, and was attended by relatives and friends of the deceased, including a member of railroad men. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Morton, and the pallbearers were six engineers of the Southern Railway.

Mr. John, Riha, of Vining, Ia., says: "I have been selling DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. I have used them myself with fine results." Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

Court took a recess till 3 o'clock to await a report of the grand jury.

The grand jury met at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of taking testimony in reference to the condition of buildings in which public assemblages take place, as well as schools, churches, &c.

Judge Barley addressed the jury before they retired to their room. The Judge said in addition to the charge he delivered yesterday, he would call attention to what is known as the "Howell building," in the rear of Washington school; also to the public school building on north Alfred street used by colored girls.

The committee on school houses and furniture of the City School Board were among the witnesses summoned, and after all the witnesses had been sworn the jury retired.

M. P. CHURCH.

The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist Protestant Church was held last night. Rev. J. M. Sheridan, president of the Maryland Annual Conference, was present and presided. The superintendent of the Sunday school reported 198 scholars and teachers on the rolls; collections for eleven months $105, and $14 on church assessment and $20 for foreign missions. The president of the Christian Endeavor Society reported 55 active members, with an average attendance of 35 at the topic services. The church treasurer reported that all the current expenses of the church had been paid in full including the pastor's salary to date. The pastor reported 20 additions to the membership during the year. It was unanimously decided to increase the pastor's salary for the next conference year, making it $100 more than had been paid any previous pastor for the last quarter of a century. The president complimented the church on the zeal displayed by the entire membership, and the marked progress made by every department of the church. At the close of the conference the president left for his home in Baltimore.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Joseph Buckner, colored, charged with the larceny of $4 from Alice Harris, colored, was dismissed.

Charles Jackson, colored, charged with disorderly conduct and with assaulting an officer, was fined $15.

Frank Parker, charged with receiving a hog which had been stolen from James Patterson, was fined $10 and sentenced to jail for three months.

SONS OF VETERANS.

A largely attended meeting of M. D. Corse Camp, Sons of Confederate Veterans was held last night in Lee Camp Hall. The Sons adopted the Confederate national flag as their camp flag. A uniform was also adopted similar to that of Lee Camp, except that the trousers are gray, instead of blue—making the uniform entirely of gray.

Mr. Edwin R. Fewell, of Washington, gave several selections on the piano which were greatly enjoyed by all present.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

At a meeting last night of the Chamber of Commerce a report was made on the matter of the reassessment on the trackage of the Southern and Washington-Southern railroads in this city. It was stated that an increase of about $10,000 had been made over last year's assessment of the tracks of the Washington-Southern, and that the Corporation Commission had forwarded the reassessment to the proper city authorities.

THE FISHING SEASON.

There are some movements on the part of fisherman toward preparations for the fishing season which is now but a few weeks off. The hucksters' supplies of shad and herring are gradually increasing, although these species of fish still come from southern rivers. One small shad, said to have been caught in the Potomac, was exposed for sale in the market this morning. Prices are still high.

The meeting was held behind closed doors. The following leaders will present the cases of the employes later in the week. George Dano, President of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers; J. W. ATTACKED BY ELEPHANT.

Enraged because she thought little Amy Chestnut was trying to take a peanut which had been thrown her, Lady Maude, the big elephant at the Atlanta Zoo, seized the child and would have dashed her to the ground had not the little one's father prevented her by rare presence of mind.

The warm weather had made Lady Maude peevish, and she was staked on a large grass plot in hope that comparative freedom would restore good temper.

A great crowd was about the elephant, and a woman began to toss peanuts to the beast, much to the enjoyment of the children. One of the peanuts fell some distance from the elephant. Little Amy Chestnut reached to pick up the peanut thinking to throw it within reach of the slowly traveling trunk.

Seized with the idea that the child was about to take the peanut away from her, the elephant, with a sudden swish of the trunk, grasped the child and began hoist her in the air. The child screamed and a tug-of-war ensued between father and elephant.

Fortunately the child was robed in loose garments, and in the tug these were pulled off by the elephant, leaving the child, almost nude and badly bruised, with the father.

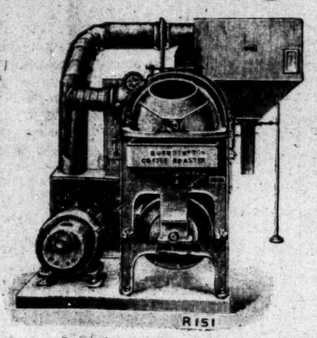
The Roasting of Coffee



Is by far the most important step in its preparation from the harvest to the table. This cut represents our roasting and milling outfit. Here the coffee is brought in direct contact with the flame, destroying all germs, thence to the suction cooler, which in two minutes drives into the center of every roasted bean the essential oils; after which it is delivered to the stoner. Thus we remove all substance foreign to our coffees, all chaff, stones, etc., and complete this entire process in twenty-five minutes.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAR. 10, 1908.

Directing Folks in Boston.

The stranger had been searching nearly half an hour among the mysterious curving ways of the park for Fenway street. At last the trim figure of a hurrying student attracted her eye, and she resolved to ask for the necessary information.

"Can you tell me, please, where Fenway street is?" she asked.

"Yes, indeed," answered the student. "Why, we're in it now."

"Yes?" The stranger looked rather helplessly around at the wealth of shrubbery, the smooth roads that seemed to lead only to Mrs. Gardner's green roofed palace. "But I wanted to find a certain number on Fenway street."

"Oh!" said the student, a helpless expression for a moment clouding her face.

"Do you know, there's a street down there." She pointed a daintily gloved hand straight into a clump of elms. "I don't know the name of it. I never did know that it had a name. Why don't you try that one?"—Boston Herald.

Pretty Strong Lungs.

In "Through Luzon on Highways and Byways" the author, a naval officer, tells this expansive story. We vouch for the story only, not for the facts:

While traversing this attractive country, which offers so much to tempt the husbandman, we met with no sign of life until nearing a village, where could be seen native hunters after deer and carabao. The carabao furnishes a fine quality of meat and has a peculiar, instinctive trait in being the only denizen of the forest that can protect itself against the boa constrictors, which are somewhat numerous in these parts. When the carabao is pounced upon by the boa and the reptile has wrapped itself round the body for the squeezing process of killing the animal, the carabao slowly draws in its sides until the boa has his grip fixed securely and begins to tighten up, when suddenly the carabao inflates his lungs to their fullest and spreads his sides, tearing the vertebrae of the reptile into a thousand pieces.

How Tea Lead Is Made.

Tea lead for lining tea chests is superior at least from the standpoint of cheapness to any other metal. According to an article in the Brass World, the method practiced by the Chinese in the manufacture of tea lead is to press molten lead between two flat stones. The excess of lead is melted in an iron kettle by a direct fire underneath. Rice paper is carefully smoothed down over the surface of the stones to supply a nonconductor of heat and thus prevent the chilling of the lead. The stones are now placed flat upon the ground and the upper one raised a short distance, with one edge resting upon the lower stone. In other words, the stones are opened like a book. A ladle full of melted lead is now poured in between the stones, and the top one is quickly dropped. The lead is squeezed out until only a thin layer is left. Tea lead usually runs from .005 to .10 inch in thickness.

An Untamed Marquis.

The father of the Marquis of Bute had an amusing experience in the neighborhood of Rothesay. He met a cockney traveler who asked to be directed to a certain place. Deceived by the marquis' accent, the visitor took him for a southron and took occasion to make supercilious remarks about the barbarous islanders of Bute. He said, "Blime me, I suppose you're like me, an Englishman?"

"No," responded the marquis; "I'm a native of Bute, this island."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed the Londoner, in amazement. "Then who in the dooce tamed yer?"

Lord Bute assumed a fierce expression and, raising a ponderous cudgel he was carrying, said angrily, "Who says I'm tame?" The alarmed cockney turned and fled.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Two Cures For the Blues.

"What do you do when you have the blues?" asked the first woman.

"I walk up Fifth avenue and look in all the jewelers' windows and at the orchids and high priced hats. What do you do?"

"I go way down to Rivington street and look at the wretched poor women with seventeen children struggling in the dirt. That makes me thankful my affairs are no worse."—New York Press.

Its Worth.

The actress, having been arrested for running her automobile seventy miles an hour, was describing the superb car to a reporter.

The young man inquired:

"How much did you say it was worth?"

"At least two columns on the front page," she answered absently.—Kansas City Independent.

Shut Her Off.

Two Questions.

"Why don't we see men like the novelists describe?"

"I give it up. Why don't we see girls like the illustrators draw?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the Peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Stevenson as He Talked.

He used to stand on the hearth rug in the smoking room, says Walter Crane in his "An Artist's Reminiscences" of Robert Louis Stevenson, the center of an admiring circle, and discourse very much in the same style as that in which he wrote. It gave one the impression of artificiality rather—I mean his manner of speaking and choice of words, as if carefully selected and cultivated. If a remark was offered by one of the company he would perhaps accept it and turn about, much as a conjurer does when he borrows a handkerchief or a hat from some one in his audience, or perhaps he would work it into his next sentence, returning it to his interlocutor improved—wrapped in silver paper, metaphorically speaking. His personal appearance was quite as unusual as his speech—a long, pale, thin face and lank hair, quick and penetrating eyes and a rather sardonic smile. The world in general, especially in clubland, wore white shirts and collars as a rule, but Stevenson sported black ones.

A Queer Ad.

"An Italian with a piano organ was turning the handle of his machine rapidly, but not a note was to be heard. I stopped at once. What on earth could be the matter?"

The speaker, an advertising agent, smiled.

"Finally," he said, "I went up close to the man.

"'A breakdown?' I asked.

"He pointed to a small placard on the organ's front, and I read:

"'The interior of the instrument has been removed. The relief that in consequence you experience is as nothing compared with that which immediately follows a dose of Sure Cure Cough Mixture.'

"It was an original ad.," the expert ended, "and I followed it up. From what the Sure Cure people told me, I found that the same ingenuity and money put in legitimate newspaper advertising would have brought 50 per cent more returns."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Lion Tamer's Secret.

The boarhound growled, and the great yellow lion leaped back in fear.

"The lion could kill the hound," the trainer said, "but he doesn't think so. He thinks the hound could easily kill him."

"Why?"

"When the lion was a cub this boarhound, full grown, lived in the cage with him. The big dog could, of course, lick the little cub, and the cub therefore feared and respected him. Now the cub is grown up, but he still thinks the hound is the better. We rear a cub with a full grown hound in this way for a reason. The hound is a protection to us trainers afterward when the cub is grown, for then should he become rambunctious one look from the dog will send him, subdued and ashamed, slinking off to the cage's farthest corner."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Story of Zero.

The word "zero" is from the Spanish and means "empty," hence nothing. It was first used for a thermometer in 1795 by a Prussian named Fahrenheit. By experimenting with snow and salt Fahrenheit found that he could produce a degree of cold equal to that of the coldest winter day. It happened that the day on which he made his final experiment was the coldest that anybody could remember, and, struck with the coincidence of his scientific discovery, he hastily concluded that he had found the lowest degree of temperature, either natural or artificial. He called the degree "zero" and constructed a thermometer graduating up from zero to boiling point, which he numbered 212 and the freezing point 32.

One of Three Things.

Fred Jones, a man of no small dimensions, was a popular conductor on the Boston and Maine railroad, making daily trips between Boston and Plymouth. One day several years ago while collecting fares he encountered a man under the influence of liquor who would not show a ticket. After reasoning in vain with this passenger Mr. Jones said, "Now, see here, you'll have to do one of three things—give me a ticket, pay your fare or get off and walk."

"You've (hic) got to do one of three things," was the reply—"eat less (hic), hoop yerself (hic) or bust."

His Nerve.

Speaking of a Wall street operator, a broker said: "The man's nerve is amazing. It shocks me. It reminds me of a money lender to whom a friend of mine, a great rider to hounds, once resorted.

"'Yes,' said the money lender to my embarrassed friend, 'I will renew your note, but only on one condition, sir—namely, that during the next paper chase at Lenox you scatter from your bag these 5,000 pink slips bearing my name and the words, "Money advanced on easy terms." Is it a go, sir?'"

The Alternative.

A Frenchman applied to a local official for a passport to visit Klatterwingschen, in Switzerland. The functionary, who was not a fellow of any geographical society, studied in vain with the spelling of the place's name. Then, unwilling to confess his difficulty, he blandly asked, "Would you as lief visit some other town?"

Hopeful Gleam.

Mrs. Becky—Dear, oh, dear, my cold's getting worse and worse! I'm getting so I can't talk. I wonder what I'd better do? Mr. Becky (absently)—For goodness' sake, don't do anything!—Cleveland Leader.

She Told Him a Lie.

He had been dining well, but not too wisely, and the next morning his conscience as well as his head smote him pretty considerably. Yet he managed to struggle down to breakfast and to make an attempt to toy with the dainty and tempting dishes which his dear little wife had thoughtfully provided.

"Cecil," said his better half gently as she watched his ineffectual endeavors to do justice to the matutinal repast, "I am afraid that I told you a lie yesterday, and I want you to forgive me, dear."

"A lie?" he asked wonderingly.

"Yes. As you left the house you will remember I said to you, 'You'll be home early, darling?' Well, it wasn't true!"

And he went out a sadder and wiser man.

Mountains Had Not Moved.

The story is told that when Judge William Rogers was chairman of the school committee in a New England town one examination day he went around questioning pupils of the middle grade. He asked a boy named Rock where the Rocky mountains were. The boy answered correctly, but failed to be promoted that term.

The following year the judge asked the same question. Rock replied, "The same place they were last year."

Wholesome Fear.

Miss H., the principal of a grammar school, was investigating a case brought her by a pupil.

"Are you quite sure that was the way it happened, Mrs. P.?"

"Miss H., that was just the way. I'm telling you the truth. I wouldn't dare tell you a lie. I'm not well enough today."—Woman's Home Companion.

University Tests.

One might say that the first test at Oxford is athletic ability, the next sociability and the final scholastic ability. When you have passed the first two, you are the admiration of your friends; when you have shown yourself a scholar besides, you are the admiration of your college.—Rhodes Scholar in Sunset Magazine.

Disproved.

She—They say that a man becomes like that with which he continually associates. He—Ridiculous idea! I've been a fishmonger all my life and can't swim a yard yet!—London Opinion.

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest remedy contains no cocaine, mercury nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases yield to treatment in a short time.
